This learning journey to the Civic District is the first field-based learning package designed for our students this year. The Civic District comprises several sites of historical, political and social significance. It is an important area rich in the history of Singapore, having witnessed key historic events from the founding of colonial Singapore, to the arrival of the Japanese in World War 2 and to the independence of Singapore as a nation state. Through the fieldwork, students will have the opportunity to better appreciate the conservation of our national monuments and how these monuments contribute to their understanding of Singapore's heritage.

As the learning journey will end at 1.30 pm during the affected days, the students will be dismissed according to the usual dismissal procedures. Should you have further queries, please feel free to call or email your child's Form Teacher. We look forward to your support.

Yours sincerely
Mr Low Yew Fai
